ABOUT CONGREGATION OR AMI

The genesis of Congregation Or Ami occurred on July 1, 2001 when two of Houston's Conservative Synagogues merged. Congregation's Beth Am and Or Hadash came together in response to a desire to share Jewish life and practice in a small and intimate setting.

On September 9, 2005 for Shabbat Services we moved into our new home and dedicated our new building.

The founding members set forth a vision of synagogue life which would extend their Jewish commitments and those of the next generation of Jews well into the 21st century and beyond. At the core of their vision were the values and priorities which echoed from the traditions of the past but which were embraced with new and contemporary ideas of the present.

Or Ami celebrates Shabbat and Holidays through regularly scheduled worship services. Services are led by Rabbi Gideon Estes, along with members of the congregation who are skilled in chanting prayers and reading Torah and Haftarah. Men and women over the age of B'nai Mitzvah are equally encouraged to lead and participate in services.

Erev Shabbat services are held every Friday evening at 6:45pm. Shabbat morning services begin at 9:30am and are followed by a Kiddush lunch for all in attendance.

A variety of other educational, religious, community outreach and social programs are available to meet a myriad of needs, through our Sisterhood, Men's Club and many committees.

CONGREGATION OR AMI RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

Our Educational Philosophy

The goal of Or Ami's program of religious education is to create a setting in which young people may explore Judaism's many facets and enable them to build a foundation for lifelong Jewish learning and celebration. The synagogue seeks to offer learning opportunities that will enrich students' lives at home and at school.

We strive to accomplish these goals by recognizing that every student is unique in his or her approach to learning and Jewish observance. Through personal attention to each student's background and learning style, we endeavor to instill knowledge of Jewish beliefs and traditions, familiarity with Jewish ritual and liturgical skills, competence in Hebrew reading and basic language, and the practice of mitzvot (commandments) pertaining to tzedakah (righteous charity), gemilut hasadim (acts of compassion) and tikkun olam (social justice).

Or Ami's program of religious education is designed to complement and further the synagogue's overall goals as expressed in its Vision Statement:

Kindling the Light of learning, spiritual growth, and compassion to nurture innovative Jewish life in the home, synagogue, and community.

MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION AND APPLICATION

Included in this packet is our membership application. Please complete this form and return it to the synagogue office. Or Ami embraces a fair share commitment philosophy that asks each member to make a financial pledge reflective of their level of income.

Although we do not review or request any personal income information, members are requested to pay 2% of their annual Adjusted Gross Income (AGI).

Membership does not include tuition for Religious School. The fees for the religious school vary depending on the age of your children. Please call us for specific information.
